2021: A Milestone Year for Live Entertainment

I went looking for itineraries. Every time I think I've got them all, I stumble over two more. I have a suspicion this has something to do with a year and a half pandemic.

It would be wonderful to be able to promise to have all the itineraries here in one place that you could print out or carry in your phone.....but I'm just not sure how many I've missed!

But I will attempt to include what I do have (excluding the S.O.S. itineraries--which is going on right now).

BONUS: There are several bands appearing on schedules that we haven't seen before. Another boon in a post-pandemic world.

Beach Music Top 40 News

– Fessa’ John Hook

As we’re about to enter our 30th year counting down the 40 biggest dune tunes of the week, there’ve been several inquiries as to how the Beach Music Top 40 impacts the Beach and Shag culture.

Good question, because we don’t trumpet what goes on in the ‘kitchen,’ we just serve the ‘buffet’ and move on to next week.

Let’s drill down a little to show another side of the Beach Music Top 40.

Although I had the good fortune to work with Dr. Beachley of Charlotte, NC’s Wax Museum when he and another fellow produced the All Time Beach Music Top 40 in 1980 (and updates ever since), I also was lucky to learn that another good friend, (another Dr.) Dr. Feelgood, had produced an All Time Top 40 in Wilmington in 1977. Apparently only a few listeners of that station (WGNI) heard the show. Still, that makes Dr. Feelgood a pioneer in charting Beach Music.

Important sidenote: 83% of that chart was national artists. Six of the songs were local.

This week’s Beach Music Top 40 (page 2) begins with a fun collaboration at # 1 by three musicians who’ve known one another through a variety of band-incarnations. The Martin-Davis Band is Durwood Martin (the Embers, early to late 1960s) and Tony Davis, member of several bands (including one of my favorites, the Kruze Band).

Bill Lyerly has a loooooong resume which includes Super Grit Cowboy (I’m pretty sure I have three albums by them and a ton of entertainment pictures over the years).

At # 11, Terry VunCannon and Kristy Jackson share the slot with a song bound to make a LOT of noise. Terry’s last two or three songs have been featured to a world wide radio and streaming audience of more than 4,000,000 listeners. “Carolina Blue” is an original by Terry and an original ‘interpretation’ by Kristy. (Remember Kristy back in the summer of 1990? She fronted the Timepiece band on Pyramid records out of Charlotte with “Take It Back.” Eventually Reba McEntire heard it and turned it into a national country hit at # 5 in November 1992).

Other notables on this week’s Beach Music Top 40 include Little John Thompson on a solo effort without Hip Pocket, entitled “No Matter” at # 7.

Billy Vera and the Beaters are back on the chart after a long hiatus with “Cool Out Baby.”

Sylvia Johns Ritchie is doing exceptionally well at # 2 with “Gonna Stop My Lookin.”

Dr. Wu and Friends have been long-time contributors to both the Beach Music Top 40 and the Roadhouse Blues and Boogie Top 40. They’re out of Texas and never disappoint when it comes to good Jump and Shag Blues. “Coming In Hot” is the lead release from their new CD at # 12.

Patman and Robin are back with a new CD entitled A Little More Love, (page 13), packed with 17 tunes, some already claiming positions at the top of the charts. From their new collection, the Carolina Coast Band featuring Rhonda McDaniel are trumpeting “Bluemonia” while the Magic Band has staked out some real estate on the chart with “Where Are You Tonight.”

Early indications are that this may be the biggest Patman and Robin CD yet. For one thing, I’m interested in the Don Dixon song. Dixon has been around Carolina entertainment forever, but never had a Beach hit. This could be very interesting.

Sylvia Johns Ritchie’s tune on A Little More Love is just a step away from # 1 and there are several more tunes of interest.

Gonna be a Great Summer 2021.

Leona Lewis, # 4 this week with “One More Sleep.”
